Ailie MacAdam is general manager of Europe and Africa for Bechtel's Infrastructure global business unit.

She joined Bechtel direct from university in 1985 as a cost engineer in the London office.

Among other efforts over her years with Bechtel, MacAdam has worked in senior capacities on the Boston Central Artery/Tunnel project and the UK's High Speed 1 rail project. Most recently, she was general manager of the Rail business line responsible for the performance and resourcing of Bechtel's international rail portfolio, and prospective rail contracts. Prior to that, she was project director of the London Crossrail project.

MacAdam was elected a principal vice president in 2009 and a senior vice president in 2012.

In 2008, the Women's Engineering Society honored MacAdam with its Inspirational Leader Award for her engineering role on High Speed 1.

She earned a Master of Science degree in chemical engineering from Bradford University, West Yorkshire, England.

Bechtel is one of the most respected global engineering, construction, and project management companies. Together with our customers, we deliver landmark projects that foster long-term progress and economic growth. Since 1898, we've completed more than 25,000 extraordinary projects across 160 countries on all seven continents. We operate through four global businesses: Infrastructure; Nuclear, Security & Environmental; Oil, Gas & Chemicals; and Mining & Metals. Our company and our culture are built on more than a century of leadership and a relentless adherence to our values, the core of which are safety, quality, ethics, and integrity. These values are what we believe, what we expect, what we deliver, and what we live.
